- On 30 June 1951, it was observed that two cage aerials had been added to the antenna system on the roof of the former Flak Kaserne in Baden (O 49/X 36), on the road to Soos (O 48/X 36). Two air force officers were seen at the windows of the installation. Motor vehicles seen there included jeeps, passenger cars, van-like truck, vehicles. Two double trunk lines led from the installation to the radio station in Soos, which was occupied by soldiers with black-bordered black epaulets. The radio truck previously seen there was no longer observed.
- The Doblhof Castle was guarded by soldiers with black-bordered black epaulets. Six trucks, including [REDACTED], were parked in the yard while [REDACTED] driven by a soldier with black-bordered black epaulets, moved out of the installation.
- The Helenenthalhof Estate quartered soldiers with black-bordered black epaulets. Fourteen trucks were parked in the garages. A tank truck with two trailers stood near the fuel dump. Motor vehicles entering or leaving the estate included trucks, driven by soldiers with black-bordered black epaulets; jeep and passenger car.
- At the Soviet quarters at 98-100 Helenenthal vehicles coming and going included trucks, all driven by soldiers with red-bordered black-epaulets, with some of the drivers also wearing motor transport insignia. (1)
